

You are invited to 1/2 day Life Science Seminar

Date: Tuesday, November 11, 2003 - Lunch at 12 noon
Time: 12:00 noon to 5:00 pm
Location: Somerset Marriott Hotel
110 Davidson Avenue
Somerset, New Jersey 08873

You have huge amounts of data to research and share. Finding the correct information is the value and the key to your company's' efficiency and time to market.

If this is a key issue to your Life Science business you must learn about our "Research Workbench Solution"

Scientific Journals, Clinical Studies, Research Reports, Regulatory Documents, Internal Correspondence, and Corporate Presentations are just some of the critical information sources that chronicle and empower the Life Science Industry. The Research Workbench is the result of a joint partnership between Verity and Raritan Technologies that enables rapid information access, discovery, and dissemination for the Life Science Knowledge Worker. The Research Workbench was specifically designed for immediate deployment without an elaborate IT staff.

The Workbench provides universal access to large scale repositories of scientific abstracts and journals, offers concept discovery and guided navigation, and uncovers highly sensitive subject matter for executive dissemination and regulatory capture. Raritan technologies has specialized in the information needs of the Life Science Industry by offering an easy to use XML interface to the sophisticated Verity infrastructure. Demonstration and discussion of these solutions will provide a very clear and simple road map to information satisfaction.

- Retrieving and integrating diverse data across a variety of scientific domains
- Adding new data sources without new software development or complete redeployment of the solution
- Acquiring experimental data from industrial-style laboratory activities 24 hours a day, 7 days a week
- Enabling continuous real-time access to data without building and managing data base warehouses
- Developing new ways to collaborate among research teams using shared research to focus efforts

Verity, Inc. is the leading provider of software solutions that helps organizations maximize the return on their intellectual capital investment. Verity adds valued utility and proven ROI by providing enterprise search, classification and recommendation technologies to your IT infrastructures. Verity has teamed up with IT industry leader IBM and local solution providers; Raritan Technologies, Mainline Solutions, GMx Solutions. The team is offering you a "Research Workbench Solution". This is a true application solution that does address the key issues you are faced with in finding the right information you need to increase your efficiency and time to market.

Register Now!

Call Tom Davis 609-504-2605
email: tdavis@verity.com

